For Students

About Internships.com:

We've spent the past six years studying internship patterns from the individual perspectives of Students, Educators, and Employers. We've constructed innovative software and services that allow everyone involved with internships, in any way, to interact with the process in their own respective fashion.

Our studies have also included labor economics, employment and demographic trends, globalization and technology within the sphere of work. We very much enjoy and are committed to what we do.

Benefits for Students:

-Our database is the largest in the world focused solely on internships (approx. 9,000 listings, 7,200 organizations/companies). It contains internships from companies large and small, local and international, and exposes students to opportunities they wouldn't find anywhere else.

-Our site allows students to maintain an internship account to track applications and, ultimately, their internship projects once they are employed.

-Our newsletter, InternDigest, contains relevant and timely work-trend information to assist students better grasp the world of work.
